

I am very troubled by the National Association of Broadcaster's (NAB) reaction and threats to XM Radio over the Traffic and Weather issue. I fail to understand how the information provided by XM can be viewed as anything but positive by the local driving public. As a local DC area commuter, I've seen the length of my commute continue to increase in the past few years (as I'm sure you also have), and feel that NAB should focus on the degradation of their industry's product, and allow XM's paying subscribers to receive the best available traffic information for the local commutes, and stop pandering to special interests in the broadcast industry.
